Prof. Brand Blanshard of Yale to address December 5 convocation

Professor Brand Blanshard, Sterling Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at Yale University, will speak at a Moorhead State College convocation Wed., Dec. 5, it was announced this week by Dr. Catherine D. Rau, chairman of the MSC philosophy department.

Former chairman of the 21-man Yale philosophy department, Prof. Blanshard, who retired in June, 1961, has been praised as the "philosopher's philosopher". A member of the Yale faculty since 1945, he was awarded the Sterling Professorship, one of the University's most distinguished chairs, in 1956.

In 1952-53, he was one of the few Americans ever selected to deliver the famous Gifford Lectures in Scotland, and in 1959 he was named the Paul Carus Foundations Lecturer, thus sharing with John Dewey the distinction of being the only American philosophers who have ever held both the Gifford and Carus lectureships.

His writings as well as his lectures have gained him a prominent reputation among scholars. His two-volume book "The Nature of Thought," published in 1940, was rated by a philosophical association committee as one of the 10 outstanding works on philosophy produced in the U.S. since 1900.

His lectures on the philosophy of religion have often stirred up debate, but he insists that problems of belief can be handled objectively and he was proud to have as leaders for some of his discussion courses at Yale a Mohammedan, an Orthodox Jew, a Unitarian minister, and a Roman Catholic.

Prof. Blanshard was born in Ohio and received his B. A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1914. He took his M. A. at Columbia University in 1918, a B.S. from Oxford in 1920, and his Ph.D. from Harvard in 1921. During this period he was a Rhodes Scholar from 1913-15 and again from 1919-20. He was also a Guggenheim Fellow from 1929-30.

Prior to joining the Yale faculty, he taught at the University of Michigan and at Swarthmore College. Since his retirement from Yale, he has continued his research and writing as a Fellow of the Advanced Studies at Wesleyan University.

China-India border conflict discussed

by Carolyn Klinnert

The military conflict between China and India was the topic discussed at Wednesday's convocation and featured Dr. Santokh Anant, a native of India and associate professor of psychology, and Dr. Yung-teh Chow, a native of China and associate professor of sociology, as main speakers. The professors, introduced by Dr. Werner J. Feld, assistant professor of political science, were given 10 minutes to discuss opposing views of the Chinese-Indian situation.

Dr. Anant began by stating that the boundary between China and India has been traditional, and that everything south of this traditional line has always belonged to India.

"The reasons for this conflict," Dr. Anant continued, "are these—first of all, during the Tibetan revolt, India gave asylum to refugees from Tibet, including the Dalai Lama. This aroused the Chinese. Secondly, there was trouble in China concerning its economic development. Since there was so much progress in India, competition developed between the two countries. China attacked India in order to slow down India's economic development." The third reason concerns the conflict between China and Russia. China wished to see how far Russia would back her up. The fourth reason, is, in psychology terms, the frustration-aggression hypothesis. China was frustrated with the United States because the U.S. has been attempting to block China from entering the United Nations. China is not able to go to war with the powerful United States and its neighboring country which is more China's size.

Dr. Chow began his talk with this statement: "The border dispute between India and China has nothing to do with Communists." This, he said, was stated by the Indian prime minister (Nehru) himself. To back this statement, Dr. Chow declared that all Chinese, whether Communist or Nationalist, recognize the disputed area as belonging to China.

The "so-called McManon Line," which India declares as the dividing line, has never been recognized by the Chinese as legal.

In 1950, Nehru and Chow En-Lai agreed that Tibet was a part of Chinese territory. Since Tibet was declared a part of Chinese territory, then Ladakh, which is located south of the disputed area, must also belong to China.

Concerning negotiations, Dr. Chow stated, "that India and China did start to negotiate, but the negotiations were never finished. This was because China showed India a book, written by Nehru, which stated that the disputed area belonged to China. India became embarrassed and withdrew from negotiations."

Dr. Feld then asked for questions from the audience. The speakers answered questions concerning the danger of Communist expansion, reasons for Nehru not wanting to negotiate, the willingness of Nehru to have the United Nations settle the dispute, and how the people themselves feel about this dispute.

This special convocation was sponsored by the International Relations Club at MSC.

Student tickets for Bumbry on sale

Student tickets for the Grace Bumbry concert, to be held next Tues., Nov. 20, continue on sale today from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Weld Auditorium Box Office.

Time magazine had this to say of the Carnegie Hall appearance of Grace Bumbry recently:

"Sure as the winter solstice, every music season brings to U.S. concert halls a U.S.-born singer who has already made it big in Europe. This season's entry is Mezzo-Soprano Grace Bumbry, 25, who made her Manhattan concert debut last week in Carnegie Hall. Her performance of Duparc songs, Italian songs, Schubert, Brahms, Liszt and Strauss lieder and Negro spirituals was eloquent exposition of a native talent that has been too long coming home.

"A large woman with an erect carriage, Mezzo Bumbry stood a trifle self-consciously with hands clasped and head thrown back. But when she nodded to her accompanist and opened her mouth, her rich, bronzeike voice seemed to flood the hall. Her singing was brilliant and ringing at the top; she impressed her audience with an absolute control that permitted her to fade from full voice to soft-spun pianissimi that hushed the hall to admiring silence. If her attitudes sometimes seemed stagy, she was completely natural and quietly moving in Deep River, Sweet Little Jesus Boy, Stand by Me.

"Mezzo Bumbry actually made her U.S. recital debut last winter—in Washington. Acting on the enthusiastic advice of friends who had heard the singer in Europe, Jackie Kennedy invited Bumbry to sing at the White House after a state dinner (Time, March 2). Daughter of a St. Louis railway clerk, Grace Bumbry became interested in music in a fashion familiar to many American Negroes—singing in a church choir. Scholarships took her to Boston University, Northwestern, and finally to Santa Barbara's Music Academy of the West to study with Lotte Lehmann, the great German-born soprano, who last week returned to the Met as a stage director.

"Bumbry went to Europe in 1959, was chosen after a single audition to sing the lead in the Pais Opera production of Carmin and the following summer became the first Negro ever to sing at the Bayreuth Festival. But she still does not consider herself a Wagner singer. "My style," says Mezzo Bumbry, "is really Verdi. This is my heart and soul."

Miss Bumbry comes to Moorhead State College directly from her Carnegie Hall appearance.

Sperry Hutchinson grant received

Moorhead State College has been chosen as one of a select group of U.S. colleges and universities to receive a grant from the Sperry Hutchinson Co. (S & H Green Stamps) for the support of public affairs programs.

Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of the College, said the grant will be used for a program February 9 at which three prominent speakers will discuss the relation of American foreign policy to the European Common Market.

Speakers will include Mr. Abram Chayes, legal advisor and assistant secretary of state in the U.S. State Department; Professor Henry L. Mason of Tulane University who has written many articles on the problems of American relations to the Common Market; and Peter T. Hayman, M.B.E., director general of the British Information Service in New York.

Winter formal set for November 30

An all-college winter formal will be held Fri., Nov. 30, from 9 p.m.-12midnight at Kise Commons.

The dance will be semi-formal and music will be furnished by a five-piece combo. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

Campbell to speak at Thanksgiving convo

Rev. Henry Campbell, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Moorhead, will talk to students at 10:00 a.m. next Wed., Nov. 21, at Weld Hall during the annual all-college Thanksgiving Convocation.

His subject will be "Our American Heritage," which ties in with the year's topic chosen by I.R.C. (Inter-Religious Council), "Where Does God Fit In?"

Rev. Campbell received his B.A. degree from the University of Omaha and his B.D. from the Chicago Theological Seminary at the University of Chicago. Before coming to the First Congregational Church in Moorhead six years ago, he was a minister in Toulon, Illinois.

As part of the program Wednesday morning, the MSC choir will sing "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson and "Miserere Cordis" by Durante.

The Thanksgiving Convocation is sponsored by the Inter-Religious Council.

Krzyzaniak serving as Naval Liaison here

Dennis Krzyzaniak, associate professor of science, has received orders from the Commandant, Ninth Naval District, to serve as Liaison Officer for Navy at Moorhead State College.

Individuals desiring information in regard to any of the commissioned officer or aviator programs of the Navy may contact Mr. Krzyzaniak at Hagen Hall, fourth floor.

"Mistic" given 2nd Class rating

The Western Mystic has received a Second Class Honor Rating by the Associated Collegiate Press for the second semester of the 1961-1962 school year. The Mystic also received a Second Class Honor Rating during the first semester.

CONVIVIO deadline is Jan. 15

Any writing of significant value is the result of many hours of careful concentration, honest evaluation, and rigorous self-discipline. In short, good writing is hard work, and deserves recognition. It is for this purpose that CONVIVIO has been established; to provide the conscientious writer with an opportunity to have his or her work published and read, not only by the students and faculty of MSC, but by the students and faculty of the 500 colleges and universities across the country to which copies of CONVIVIO will be sent.

The editorial staff of CONVIVIO urges students to submit their materials and to feel free to discuss with them any questions they might have concerning their work.

Deadline for all materials is January 15, 1963. Materials should be submitted to MSC P.O. Box 297.

Library tells policy change

The library staff wishes to announce that a change in the loan policy for curriculum materials was put into effect this Wednesday.

All materials for laboratory work will now be allowed to circulate for a three-day period rather than the previous two weeks.

These materials include sample tests, juvenile books, curriculum bulletins, and pamphlets, and will be subject to one renewal.

Former advisor defends "Mistic"

Editor's note: The following letter was received recently from Mr. Paul Schlueter who was advisor to the Mistic the past two years. He is currently working on his doctor's degree at the University of Denver.

Dear editor:

Even though I am no longer a Moorhead resident, I do receive the Mistic regularly and therefore have a chance to read it regularly. I was most interested in the exchange of letters that appeared in the October 26 issue between yourself and Dave Lutes, and, for what it's worth, felt I could add a few thoughts to the discussion.

In general, I agree with you, Howard, about the reasons for the Mistic's change from last year in the number of staff members. In fact, I am a bit suprised that as many as 22 people are working for what it's worth, felt I could add a few thoughts to the discussion. minor are gradually being de-emphasized from previous years, if what I was told before I left was accurate; and this trend, I believe, can be changed only if MSC again has a strong journalism program.

Re the Greeks: it is no secret that I have felt since I came to MSC that "Greek Circles" was a waste of time and space. And evidently the "Greek" organizations felt similarly last year, when Sharon Malen had the chore of gathering material for this column; she constantly said that the "Greeks" wanted coverage but were above helping in providing such material. And my personal feeling was that "Greek" activities generally were of interest to "Greeks" almost exclusively, but that when some "Greek" activity was of general MSC interest, it could be given adequate news coverage fairly and without apology. But this general interest just never occurred, and the column usually amounted to small talk and gossip. And, by comparison, I feel the plays that MSC puts on are infinitely more worthwhile to cover in the paper, and deserve what they have gotten the past few years: a series of different stories emphasizing the different aspects of the performance, cast, story, tickets, etc.

An afterthought: If some of the MSC students who spend so much of their time griping about the Mistic would leave the isolated Moorhead area mentally for a little while and would read some other college papers (including even the University of Denver paper which is all feature and opinion columns), I feel they'd appreciate what you, Howard, and your staff are attempting with the Mistic.

Sincerely,
Paul Schlueter

MSC Theatre's "Birdie" praised

To the Editor:

Conrad Birdie, with his sideburns and his leer, has gone back to New York and basic training. Mrs. Peterson is in the gutter in her mink coat, playing tag with the Bumble Bee salmon cans. Albert and Rosie are happily teaching domestic science and fractured English in Pumpkin Hollow, Iowa.

But everybody at MSC has a glittering memory of "One Last Kiss," the teen-age telephone huddle, the Ice House, the Shriners' orgy, the nubile Kim MacAfee, and the hymn to Ed Sullivan.

I just want to go on record as saying I think Bye Bye Birdie was fabulous, a really professional production. Dr. Delmar Hansen has done it again. We have come to take his expertise for granted, but I think it's worth mentioning again in the Mistic. All those who took part—Miss Nass, Mr. Emery, and more than 150 exhausted students—deserve a share of the praise too.

Birdie could have run for a couple of weeks to packed houses. I'll never forget it, and I would guess that more than 3,000 other people feel the same way.

Religious News

Tri-C

Rev. Henry Campbell will be the speaker for the Thanksgiving Convocation to be held November 21 at 11:00 a.m. in Weld Auditorium.

On Thurs., Nov. 8, program planning for the year was discussed. The programs will concern "Studies of Other Religions" and "Studies of Congregationalism." A Christmas party and coroling are also being planned.

Newman Club

Newmanites are planning to attend the Minnkota Province in Aberdeen, S.D., on November 23-24.

Chaplain Father Jerome is preparing a Religious Education series explaining different topics of the Catholic Faith. These meetings will be followed with discussion by Newmanites. Anyone interested in attending these meetings is cordially invited.

REMINDER: Attend Mass every Wednesday evening at 5:00 p.m. at St. Joseph's Church in Moorhead. Anyone wishing a ride may meet at Dahl Hall at 4:45 p.m. for a ride.

LSA

Pastor Delmar L. Jacobson of Trinity Lutheran Church, Moorhead, will speak on the topic "Why Human Suffering?" at 7 p.m. on Thurs., Nov. 29, at Luther Hall (one block west of campus gates).

The hayride originally planned for tomorrow is now planned for tonight at 8:15 p.m. Gamma Delta is invited to the hayride. Everyone must meet at Luther Hall.

LSA will visit Lutheran faculty homes Sun., Nov. 18. Those going are to meet at Luther Hall at 8:00 p.m. for rides.

Gamma Delta

The Epsilon Epsilon chapter of Gamma Delta will have three of its members serving on the new 1962-63 board of regional officers of the North Central Region of Gamma Delta. Robert Schulz, who attends NDSU, was elected regional president. Janet Gaass was appointed publicity chairman, and Donna Schave, historian. Both Janet and Donna are sophomores at MSC.

It was at the 1962-63 convention hosted by the Epsilon Epsilon chapter in Moorhead that the new officers were received. A total of 130 students attended the convention.

Wesley Foundation

Everyone is invited to the coffee hour to be held on Sun., Nov. 18, from 9:30-11:00 a.m. at Grace Methodist Church in the Wesley Room.

A film on the Ecumenical Movement will be shown Thurs., Nov. 29, at 6:30 p.m., with a discussion following. There will be a Fireside December 2 at 7:30 p.m.

SC members attend MSCASG convention

Approximately 40 delegates from the Minnesota State Colleges attended the annual fall convention of the Minnesota State College Association of Student Governments (MSCASG) last Thurs. through Sat., Nov. 8-10, at Bemidji State College.

Rodney Baker, president of the MSC Student Commission, spoke at the Thursday General Assembly on "Student Government's Responsibility to Education."

Assigned topics of student concern and interest were compared, evaluated, and resolved in five specific discussion groups scheduled throughout the conference. Areas of discussion were: A student government's role as a structure of representation, the conditions and recommendations pertaining to college health services, a comparison of methods seeking to establish student union centers, an abstract view of college life, and a revision of the MSCASG constitution.

Friday's agenda included an objective analysis and report by student representatives from the University of Minnesota on their student government. There were other reports on active student involvement in a foreign student program and the objectives of the National Student Association.

Saturday found the conference in final general assembly passing the minutes of work completed and voting on policy proposals or programs to further the MSCASG purpose.

Two unanimously-approved resolutions which seek to promote and demine the role of student governments were:

1. Cooperation and decisive action with faculty and administrators in formulating college policy.
2. Active recognition of student opinion—both majority and minority.
3. Conscientious leadership to broaden the areas of student awareness interest, and action.
4. Balanced coordination of groups and organizations to safeguard their identity and reasons for existence.

Second, that in order to further the aims and voice the needs of the MSCASG, it was decided to request official recognition by, and offer student representation on, the Minnesota State College Board.

MSC will be the scene of the annual spring conference of the MSCSG.

Attending the Bemidji Conference from Moorhead were Rodney Baker, Judy Livdahl, Sharon Boyum, Dave Nord, Russ Davis, Ed Schwartz, Dean Turcotte, and Wes Schierman, all of whom are Student Commission members. Dr. Lysne, financial advisor to the Student Commission, accompanied the delegates to Saturday's meeting.

No-credit Spanish course offered

A special non-credit class in beginning Spanish will be made available to residents of the Moorhead—Fargo community who are interested in studying the language under a native speaker. Enrollment is open to anyone of high school age or older. All those interested should repret at 4:00 p.m. Mon., Nov. 19, in the auditorium of Hagen Hall, 11th St. and 6th Ave. So.

Instructor will be Senorita Teresa Herrera, scholarship student at Moorhead State College from Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico. In Mexico, Miss Herrera also taught English as a foreign language, to Spanish-speaking students.

Miss Herrera will offer 18 one-hour sessions for a tuition fee of $10.00. Only the organizational meeting will be held in Hagen Hall. Regular sessions will be held in a meeting place to be announced.

The first regular meeting of the class will be the following Mon. (November 26). Sessions will be held from 4-5:00 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Nine sessions will be held in January, 1963, ending Fri., Jan. 25. If there is sufficient interest, a second series will be organized to begin in February.

Further information may be secured by calling Miss Herrera at 233-6171, Ext 273.

Acting dean of UND Law School describes taxes for Blackstones

by Vern Overby

James P. White, acting Dean of the University of North Dakota Law School, addressed the Blackstone Society at last Monday's meeting.

Dean White attended Ohio University, New York University, and received his Master of Law degree from Columbia University in New York. Although he is one of the youngest deans of any law school in the country, he is perhaps the most aggressive and dynamic.

The topic of Dean White's speech was taxation, in which he dealt with income, estate, and gift taxes. Emphasized was the complexity of our tax system and the need for greater study of this subject on the part of law students.

The cry, on the part of the taxpayers, for greater expansion of public services with the attached desire for lower taxes, was cited as one of the complex problems facing lawmakers today.

In discussing the status of the North Dakota Law School, Dean White noted that although the number of volumes contained in their Law Library is considerably smaller than those of the large schools such as the University of Minnesota, there is the factor of duplication to be considered. In the larger schools, five or six copies of a book may be needed to meet student demands, whereas in a small school such as North Dakota, one copy will be adequate.

The University of North Dakota Law School has an enrollment of 141 students. This small enrollment, according to White, gives the student an opportunity for more personalized attention.

The cost of attending the UND Law School is $115 per semester for North Dakota residents, and $250 per semester for out-of-state students. Before acceptance into the Law School, the Princeton Law School Examination must be taken.

Anyone who would like more information on the University of North Dakota Law School should contact Dr. Werner Feld, advisor to the Blackstone Society.

Dr. Satin elected to national board

Dr. Joseph Satin, professor of English at Moorhead State College, has been elected to the executive committee of the Conference on College Composition and Communication, National Council of Teachers of English, according to an announcement this week.

He was one of 15 college and university English professors throughout the U.S. chosen to the national organization which is concerned with composition and communication instruction. He will attend a spring meeting of the conference scheduled March 21-23 at Los Angeles at which discussions will center on "The Content of the English Course".

Charles Olson, Daniel Larson, and Rodney Baker

Three MSC Seniors nominated for Danforth fellowships

Three MSC men have been nominated for the Danforth Graduate Fellowships.

Nominated were Daniel R. Larson, who has a double major in history and English; Rodney R. Baker, who is carrying a double major in psychology and mathematics; and Charles J. Olson, who is majoring in business administration and business education.

Both Daniel Larson and Charles Olson are married and have children. Rodney Baker is active in school activities plus being president of the Student Commission.

Qualified for nomination, these men were not only picked because of high scholastic averages, but they were chosen for personal factors. Nominees must express religious concern, but they do not necessarily have to be Christian.

The final honor, presentation of a fellowship, will enable the student to continue his education in graduate study at any university in the United States. These nominees are competing with men throughout the nation.

Fellowships are open to qualified male seniors under 30 and graduates of accredited colleges in the U.S. in any field of study common to the undergraduate college.

The Danforth Graduate Fellowship program, established in 1951, financially assists about 500 men annually to become as competent and well-trained college teachers as is possible.

Financial limits for this scholarship program are: single, $1,500; married, $2,000; and, $500 for each dependent child; plus required tuition and fees.

Mrs. Feld to teach dance courses

Mrs. Werner (Betty) Feld will teach credit classes in modern dance for both men and women and also ballroom dancing for beginners during the winter quarter at MSC, it was announced this week. Courses will be offered in the department of health, physical education and recreation.

Born in Durham, N.C., Mrs. Feld received her education at Women's College of the University of North Carolina. She has taught dancing previously at Durham, Hillsboro, N.C., Alexandria, Va., and Atlanta, Ga. She is former member of the Dancing Masters of America.

Mrs. Feld has received special training under prominent instructors of tap and modern jazz, acrobatic and adagio, ballet, ballroom, Spanish dancing, and modern dance. Her husband, Dr. Feld, is assistant professor of political science at the college.

Miss Jessie McKellar, head of women's physical education, emphasized that both men and women can register for the modern dance classes. No special costume will be required.

Debaters to open at UND Dec. 7

The Moorhead State College debate team has accepted invitations to two tournaments this year. The first one will be at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks on December 7-8. The second one will be held with Sioux Falls on January 25-26.

The topic this year is: "Resolved: That the non-Communist nations of the world should form an economic community."

Mr. Scribner, the debate coach, plans to schedule several informal tournaments with Concordia, North Dakota State University, and Bemidji State College during the year.

The team will remain active through April and plans are being made for going to Montana State University in Missoula.

Those debating at present are Gord Carpenter, Cathy Hall, John Hewett, Theresa Lanouette, Charles McCabe, Eugene Schulstad, and Mrs. Marge Such. Everyone who is interested in debating is urged to speak to Mr. Scribner.

Shaheed comes to Moorhead to attend Concordia ; is "locked out"

by Toni Miksche

Trinidad, an island of approximately 1,900 square miles, belonging to the British West Indies, is located just off the coast of Venezuela. 40 per cent of the population is Negroid, 30 percent is East Indian, with the remaining 30 per cent being of European and Asian decent.

This small island is the home of Shaheed Mohammed who came to the United States three years ago. His chief purpose in coming was to further his education. He attended public school in Trinidad, which is compulsory for all children. If parents can afford the expense, they send their children on to college.

Shaheed had two years of college before coming to the United States. After arriving here he travelled around trying to select a college. While in Grand Forks he met the president of Wesley College in Grand Forks who recommended Concordia College to him.

Shaheed came to Moorhead and with difficulty found his way to Concordia only to find that the offices were closed because of the noon hour break. On his way back uptown he noticed a sign which read "Moorhead State College." By the time he found the campus, the offices had opened again. So he registered!

Shaheed is majoring in geography and minoring in French. He is a senior now and will be graduated with a B. A. degree. After he is qualified, he would like to go back to Trinidad to do social work. Shaheed is presently living in Fargo with his wife and two daughters.

Like many visitors to a foreign country, Shaheed has formed opinions about, and made adjustments to, our way of life. To quote Shaheed: "I came here for an education and have learned a lot since my arrival. My outlook on life has been widened. I admire the American way of life, but being of East Indian origin my cultural background is such that I have had to adjust to this way of life. Being a Moslem, my religious activities have been curtailed since there are no mosques around here. Moslems do not eat pork so I had a difficult time adjusting myself to eating beef, chicken, or fish."

"My stay in the United States has been pleasant.

"The American people are very friendly. So far I have not been bothered by race discrimination; if it should arise, I would not let it deter me from my ambitions."

Stan Kenton to play at NDSU Military Ball Dec. 1

Stan Kenton, long renown for heading one of the most colorful orchestras in the country, will bring his new 22-piece orchestra to North Dakota State University for the 1962 Military Ball on Sat., Dec. 1.

In addition to playing for the formal dance on the NDSU campus, the Kenton orchestra will perform a one-hour concert in Festival Hall at 7 p.m. Tickets for the concert are $1 per person and dance tickets are $5 per couple.

The theme for this year's ball is "Medieval Military". Kenton's "New Era In Modern American Music" Orchestra dynamically reveals his eagerness to constantly probe, experiment, and plunge into as many new musical areas as possible.

The orchestra that Kenton brings to NDSU is still another venture in creativity. In addition to the standard Kenton instrumentation, he has added four "Mellophoniums" specifically designed for Stan by Conn Instrument Company.

The Mellophonium is keyed

Anant sees "national egotism" as main threat to world peace

Harbored in the mind of Dr. Santokh Singh Anant is a unified and peaceful world.

But "national egotism" is docked in this harbor—the Anant calls "the basic cause of conflicting force which Dr. present day world tension."

There are saound reasons behind Dr. Anant's argument, but, before the reasons came the seasoning.

He was born in Amritsar, India, a city of more than 400,000 population in the Punjab State, where he also completed his high school education. He graduated at the top of his class at the age of 16.

The son of a building contractor, he began working as a full-time, clerk continuing his education by attending evening classes.

He received his B.A. in 1952 and M.A. in psychology in 1955 at Punjab University.

In 1956, he joined a teacher's training college as a lecturer in psychology while working on his own teaching degree, a B. Ed., which he got in 1958. In this same year, he was selected as a research scholar in the Indian Statistical Institute, where he worked until leaving for the United States on a Fulbright Grant in August, 1959.

From 1959 to 1962, in addition to his studies, he worked as a teaching assistant, research assistant and teaching fellow at the University of Michigan. He finished his work at Michigan with these degrees: M.A.(psychology with speciaization in social psychology), M.S. (Education, with specialization in guidance and counseling), and Ph.D. (Education and psychology.)

Now at MSC, where he is an associate pofessor in the psychology department, Dr. Anant, after many hard but stil enjoyable years of schooling, is able to begin with some of his own plans.

First and most important to him is his teaching. Secondly, he is compiling a complete performance record of his student's grades in relation to his background and present activities in addition to college work.

Since coming to the United States, Dr. Anant has done a considerable amount of traveling and lists traveling as one of his relaxing activities.

Other activities and hobbies are photography, reading, and watching TV. Creative writing, though, tops the list of things he likes to do.

In India, he published the short stories entitled "She Is Still Alive" and "Repentence," along with other short stories and bits of poetry. The themes of the above and most of his work evolve around romance and social problems.

He has also published one book in educational psychology for the use of his students in India, and articles in the "New Educator" and "Aaian Student." The "New Educator" is an Indian magazine and the "Asian Student" is a United States publication.

In addition to this, he has published literary criticisms on poetry and criticisms of various aspects in the field of psychology.

Behind this man whose accomplishments speak for themselves is the Sikh religion, founded by Guu Nanak in 1469 A.D. Nanak preached faith in one God, love of mankind, and selfless service for humanity.

In Sikh brotherhood, there is no distinction based upon class, color, sex, caste, or religion. Respect for every religion is preached, not just mere tolerance. The religion gave a new turn to the life and history of the people of Northwest India, which later enriched Indian culture and life in general.

Dr. Anant is another driving example of the Sikh religion; this is the reason he blames "national egotism" for the tension in the world today. He doesn't ask that the nations of the world adopt the Sikh religion, but that they show more tolerance for one another.

As a hard-working individual and teacher, Dr. Anant's role in the world now is provoking thought—thought that he hopes will some day lead to the action which will promote the unified world of peace he idealizes.

Autumn Ball Queen crowned tomorrow

An Autumn Queen will be crowned at Moorhead State College Saturday when the Owl fraternity sponsors its second annual Autumn Ball.

The new queen will be one of three candidates chosen recently. All are juniors and all are majoring in elementary education. They are Ruth Klaboe of Pelican Rapids, a member of Pi Mu Phi sorority; Ann Mickelson of Sabin, member of Pi Mu Phi and formerly Miss Moorhead; and Ann Olson of Crookston, a transfer student from North Dakota University where she was vice president of Alpha Phi.

Jackie Harris of Detroit Lakes is the reigning Autumn Queen.

The ball, open to the general public, will be held in the Campus School gymnasium and will feature music by Clarence D. Bowman Jr. and his band from Grand Forks.

Youngquist exhibits at Minneapolis show

An exhibit of recent paintings by Jack Youngquist, instructor in the art department, will open today at the Kilbride-Bradley Art Gallery in Minneapolis.

Youngquist came to Moorhead State College in 1961 and had an exhibit at the College last April. The Minneapolis show will include paintings of the North Shore of Lake Superior and of Mexico, where he spent last summer.

He has previously exhibited at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts; Walker Art Center, Minneapolis; and the Swedish-American Institute in Minneapolis.

Youthful varsity to test experienced alums

Dragon Along

by Larry Larson
(Mistic Sports Editor)

Jim Nagel, a 1962 graduate of Moorhead State College, and now a graduate student at South Dakota State, will play in the alumni-varsity basketball game on November 17.

Nagel set a record for the most points scored in one season last year, as the former Breckenridge High School product meshed the nets for 447 points.

Al Shogren, a graduate of Moorhead State College last year, will marry Miss Linda Green of Fargo on November 24. Miss Green was freshman Beanie Queen at MSC during the fall of 1960. Shogren earned four letters in basketball while at Dragonland.

Jerry Hegna is enrolled at Moorhead State College. The ex-Granite Falls High School native was an all-state football fullback, twice named all-tournament in the Minnesota State High School basketball tournament, and was a standout performer for the Kilowatts on the baseball diamond.

Jerry is working out with the Dragon basketballers this season after spending his initial year of school at the University of Minnesota. The athletic wonder becomes eligible January 22 and should help the cagesters a great deal from that date on.

Dale Serum, a former Moorhead State College basketball star, is now the recreation director at Alexandria. Serum was a member of the 1952 Halstad High School State Tournament basketball squad.

Curt Reinan, a senior on last year's basketball team and an all-state High School competitor for the Fergus Falls High School Otters, is now in the service.

Rod Zimmerman, a 1959 grad of MSC, will play for the alumni in the annual game against the varsity on November 17. Zimmerman's 40-point effort against Winona State College in the 1958-59 season still stands as a school record for the most points scored in a single game.

Peter Lysaker, a former Detroit Lakes Laker hoopster is here after spending his initial year at Concordia College. Pete was named the most valuable freshman on the Cobber frosh last season.

Larry Fundingsland, an all-state tournament selection in last year's basketball tournament at Williams Arena in Minneapolis, is working out with the basketball team. The freshman from St. Louis Park helped pilot the Orioles to the Minnesota State High School basketball championship title last March.

Jim Jahr, a 6'4" freshman from Alexandria is also working out for Coach Larry MacLeod's basketball team. The hook shot specialist set a Region Six record last March when he scored 48 points in the regional tourney.

Neil Johnson, a 1962 graduate of Moorhead State College, is at Halstad High School where he will coach the basketball "B" squad and pilot the Pirate tracksters.

Norm Opheim, a star guard and captain of last year's basketball team, will coach some basketball and baseball at Parkers Prairie High School.

At most of the colleges and universities in the upper midwest, intramurals play a big part in providing competition and recreation for the average student.

Here at MSC, the story is the same; for many students, intramurals play a big part in making their college days more enjoyable. The facilities here are superior to most schools and the program is comparable.

With increased enrollment this year and other factors, Mr. Roy Domek, director of the program, is looking for an assistant—a student manager that will handle various phases of the program for him.

If a freshman took the job (and Mr. Domek would just as soon give the job to a freshman as anyone else), these would be the qualifications: interest in sports and associations with athletic people, a desire to work, and time.

The reward is the same as that received by any four year letterman: a letter the first year, sweater and letter the second, letter jacket the third, and an "M" blanket the fourth.

The experience a student will receive for this voluntary job cannot be found in any other phase of college activities.

If you're interested, you can contact Mr. Domek at Nemzek Hall.

Four Dragon coaches left for Minneapolis late yesterday afternoon so that it may permit them to be in attendance at the Northern States College Conference meeting that will select the NSCC all-conference football team.

The four head mentors that departed for the Mill City were: head football coach Dwaine Hoberg, athletic director and basketball coach Larry MacLeod, wrestling coach Bill Garland, and assistant football and wrestling mentor Al Holmes.

Former basketball stars at Moorhead State College will be back at their alma mater tomorrow night when they take to the hardwood and tangle with this year's varsity team. The game is slated to start at 7:30 p.m. at Nemzek Fieldhouse.

Those alumnus back for the cage duel are: Jim Nagel, Rod Zimmerman, Neil Johnson, Al Santwire, Norm Opheim, and Dennis Anderson.

Head varsity coach Larry MacLeod has selected this year's basketball team. It includes a lone senior, Wayne Erickson, and juniors Larry Sewall, Ron Hillman, Darrel Barth, John Talaska, and Sammy White. Sophomores making the squad include Wally Halbakken, Bernie Larson, Russ Gerdin, Don Wermager, and Gordy Salmela. A lone freshman in Jim Jahr has also made this year's varsity team.

Slated to start in tomorrow night's alumni-varsity game are forwards Larry Sewall and John Talaska. At the pivot spot will be Jim Jahr, while Don Wermager and Darrel Barth will man the backcourt spots.

While for the alumnus the probable starters are Jim Nagel and Dennis Anderson at the forwards. Rod Zimmerman will most likely get the nod at center with Norm Opheim and Al Santwire set at the guard posts.

Lowell Bolger, former basketball star, will not play, but will coach the veteran alumnus crew.

Also slated to play with this strong alumnus contingent are this season's ineligible basketball players. Those cagers include Jerry Hegna, Peter Lysaker, Dennis Raffenneul, Tom Engh, Don Sweeney, and Larry Graham.

Following this cage battle, the varsity team will play in the annual basketball jamboree slated this year for the Concordia College Fieldhouse. At this affair, four quarters consisting of eight high school teams will meet, with one half of college basketball between the Concordia College Cobbers and the MSC Dragons. The classic will be played next Thurs., Nov. 22.

The Dragons open regular season play November 27 when they travel to the Wahpeton School of Science to duel the Wildcats. Then on November 29, the locals will play their home opener when meeting the strong Packs from Northern Teachers of Aberdeen, S. D.

Last half rally gives Cobbers 36-14 victory over Dragon gridgers

by Mark Ulrich

Moorhead State's football team lost to the Concordia College Cobbers last Saturday, 36-14, thus ending a disappointing year for a group with high hopes at the beginning of the season.

What were the reasons behind this disappointing season? What about the Concordia game? What about a whole lot of other things?

Junior defensive end Mike DeStasio, who assistant coach Mike Rand cited as playing his best game of the year, said this about Concordia: "The turning point in the game was the MSC punt at the start of the third quarter. I talked with Julian Gulian (Concordia lineman) and he said that although it didn't show up too clearly in the movies, the halfback admitted that the punt hit him before our guys fell all over it. We were fired then. It just took it out of us when they were given the ball."

Of the season, Mike said that both on offense and defense, MSC couldn't get that big third-down play.

Senior halfback Marshall Sho-quist said that neither Jim Berg and Dick Schubbe were healthy and that this made a difference in the Concordia game.

On the season, Shoquist said: "There were bright spots, but we didn't jell as a team."

Sophomore Jim Berg, who played well all year, said: "We were more fired-up for Concordia than any other game." Then he shook his head. "But we just lost our zip in the end."

Berg felt the season was disappointing and added the fact that the team wasn't as fired for the games as they should've been.

Steve Duginski, who wasn't eligible this year, but played on the Bomber squad, smiled when asked to comment on the Concordia game, and said, "I felt that Concordia had 13 men on the field, but don't print it."

Gary Willert, junior end, threw a different light on the subject: "I felt we played the first half like last year's team and the second half like this year's team. We lost to some good teams last year, but this year we lost to some bad ones!"

Bruce Bausman, the other junior end, added, "We had the potential to do everything, but we just let down at the wrong times."

About Concordia, Bruce said, "it was a typical Concordia team. They're lucky. We beat them in every respect but the score. I wasn't hit hard once."

Don Pate went a little further on Bausman's "lucky" aspect: "It's just that Concordia has a jinx on us. I thought we played a good game. We had a much better team than our record showed. We lost some leadership when 'Big' Ron was injured, especially on defense."

Will Ovsak, the Dragon's aggressive linebacker, said that the Dragons handled Concordia from a physical standpoint and that he thought the new offense (spread) really threw them.

About the season, Will said: "It was sporadic. We were just plain up and down."

Bob Temp felt the Dragons should've run more. On the season, he added: "We didn't get enough out of the players."

Senior Don Tirk paid tribute to Kevin Wimmer and the team as a whole for giving Concordia their all.

"I felt we had the potential to go undefeated," he said. "In that respect, the season was disappointing."

Captain Roger Gunnufson paid tribute to all the players, saying they hit real well.

Then he spoke of the season: "Losing Ron hurt us—our whole defense. We couldn't beat every team we played; it was just one of those things."

"Big" Ron Johnson, who everyone felt was a big loss this year, said this of Concordia: "Primarily, the basic fault was in the fact that in the first half, it was a pretty even game and the second half—well, a few breaks could've gone our way and made the difference."

Asked to comment on the breath and said: "Ultimately, I year, Ron chuckled under his envisioned that if I would've been playing—Delete that," he laughed. "On the whole, we could've done a lot better. I figured we could've won the championship."

What Ron failed to mention was that everybody should've listened to Caruso before the games like he did.

Next year, all the returning players feel that they won't make the mistake they did this year. Too much confidence in the beginning hurt them; they all admitted that. Next year they plan to play one game at a time and see how that works. Let's hope they do it and let's hope it works.

Junior halfback Marshall Shoquist eludes two Concordia Cobber tackling enthusiasts and breaks away for a sizeable gain in last Saturday's duel with the neighbor school. Concordia won the battle 36-14.
